Before getting the violonist lost up his ass in the bear, before stumbling into a swamp filled with evil trolls. Adam was dreaming in the womb of a nautilus. A child with 3 faces, a daughter with 3 heads, a son with 3 eyes, a friend with 3 hearts, a robot with 3 swords. And he laughed at the world, and cried when he got angry. Finally he understood his existence, and he felt himself slipping away. Three friends who have paid the price for the important things in life have decided to leave a message for the future. Three gigantic larvae sent towards the end of the world will find the evil carrion eaten by the horde, but only once the world has ended. Can they teach it something? Who is right? Who is left? He is a burglar who broke into the kingdom of the rich, just to have the right to fill his pocket with the gold and jewels of the world. He is a man who finds himself alone in the end of the world, but not for long. He is the third one to break through the invisible wall of the world, the breaker. The man who was left without a soul. He is a wizard who filled the universe with evil and sadness, just to feel himself. He is the third one who will appear in the shadow of the world, the one in the mirror who lost his mask. He is the lonely man who is looking for his friends, the one in the castle who wishes that the world ends one day. Both are vagabonds and pimps, both are angels and demons. Adam is a friend with 3 faces, a friend who carries death in his heart, a friend who will fail in every attempt to escape. And today he will destroy the world. A person who is tired of being human.

You start the game by selecting your creature type by clicking on one of 4 available card types, and then draw your hand of 4 cards. A card in your hand is represented by a picture of the card and the number in front of it. 3 numbers are on top and 4 on the bottom. Number 0 is on the left, 1 on the top left, 2 on the top right and 3 on the bottom right. The image also shows whether the card has any restrictions (e.g. it could only be played against another creature of the same type) or restrictions that can be applied to the card (e.g. it cannot be played if you have already played 1 creature of the same type), or whether it is a part of a combo with other cards. The picture also shows the amount of Mana required to play the card (if applicable), as well as your current Mana level. Mana is considered to be an important resource, as it allows you to play cards and remove cards from your hand, among other things. Your current Mana level can differ from your current card count. You can choose to discard a card, by clicking on it and then clicking on the trashcan icon. When you discard a card, the number in front of it is reduced by 1. If the card is no longer in your hand, it will be displayed in the next line. The cards in your hand are displayed on the top of the screen. If an Ethereal or a Creature dies in your game, they will be removed from your hand and their mana consumed. In this way, a deck with a lot of creatures can be rendered useless before the first attack. In the case of Ethereal, they can still be used for your combo, or can be used by your opponent to create more creatures. After clicking on the trashcan icon or the card in your hand, you will have 3 choices: Cancel - This will put all the cards back in your hand. You may lose any bonuses that you have been receiving for a specific number of cards, but you will not lose the Mana you have invested in them. Replay - This option will play the game from the beginning and continue where you last left off. You will lose any bonuses you have been receiving for a specific number of cards, and you can lose your Mana as well, but you will not lose any cards from your deck. Undo - This will remove the card from of St Mary, Ratnapura The Cathedral of St Mary is the cathedral church and ecclesiastical parish centre of the City of Ratnapura in the central province of Sri Lanka. The City of Ratnapura is one of the 47 Municipal Councils in Sri Lanka. The City encompasses the ancient Kalpitiya Kingdom. The City was established by King Parakramabahu VI of Anuradhapura.

Architecture The Cathedral is the finest example of Romanesque architecture in Sri Lanka, and a landmark in Ratnapura. The cathedral is dedicated to Mary, the mother of Jesus in Greek, as found in Catholic and Anglican traditions. The cathedral is built in accordance with the chants of St. John of Damascus. The walls were quarried out of sandstone and granites and the foundation walls are built with copper bricks. The stone used by St. Mary's is already massive. The timber used for doorways, parts of church furniture, roofing, etc. were collected around the island, as no trees grew within a radius of 20 km from the town. There are two statues of the Virgin Marys in the Place of the Nativity within the cathedral, one standing on the ground and one standing on the roof of the cathedral. The largest statue of Mary standing on the roof of the cathedral is estimated to be 20 cm tall. The cathedral is built with the flair of panache and grandeur. It was made possible by the contributions of the Wijayawardhene's, of Wettimuni dynasty of Anuradhapura, and of Sanagasiddha, who invited a German Jesuit architect to lay the foundation of the cathedral. Kekuli is used as an interior building material. The cathedral is about 50 m wide and 80 m long. Gothic and Romanesque churches are known to the cathedral of Ratnapura. However, both of them are ruined until the late 19th century. Prior to the formation of the cathedral, there was only one church to serve the people. The one was worshiped as "Arakkal Pinnamayi Mandiraya" or Geevasekam for a short period of time. Also, there is a large Saint Mary's Gravestone near the Cathedral. This Gravestone was built by the Sandaguli family of Kekuli, and it is said to
