What's new in Zombies Everywhere - Guide Atlas:

(Common) on the subject of the Zombies that will break into your base Zombies are usually found indoors, but they can also appear in other places, such as mountains, hills, or rivers. A special zombie type, ie, raindrop zombies, can burst into your base from a rain cloud. As a base defender, you may have to deal with the zombies' ranged attacks, strong melee attacks, and living zombies that can infect your base. The infected men will break into your base with demon commands (which serve as the zombies' special attack). You can prevent the infected men from breaking into your base by cancelling their demonic ability (the "Wind of Eclipse" special attack, "Give for Death" or "Take from Life" special attack) with a command. The infected survivors will break into your base in the morning, the evening, and during the night. The different ways of breaking into your base depend on the time, the type of zombies, and other factors. To control the zombies, depending on where the zombies are, you can use commands such as "Sniff", "Patrol", "Hunt", "Find", "Chase" or "Escort". The zombies will aim their direction after using a command. However, zombies usually move in a straight line, and will not change their direction if they sense an obstacle, such as a road and bushes, or the earth. Zombies move in a straight line, change direction rarely, move fast, and move slowly. So, zombies are easier to see than the survivors. Since the zombies' vision radius is smaller than that of the survivors', zombies might not be able to see you. Zombies will wander in a straight line until they reach their destination, but they have been said to "forget their destination". Even if their awareness level decreases, a zombie will continue moving until it leaves its intended destination area. However, a zombie can still act even if its awareness level decreases; in other words, a zombie will do more damage when the detection area (sight radius) decreases. Zombies usually break into your base through the following five paths: at the sea at the hills underground up the road in midair Zombies at the sea break into your base at times of low tide, when there is no rain, or
